Microcredentials @UM

In line with the speed changes of physical learning mode to online, Universiti Malaya is taking every opportunity to reach students globally as well as equipped our resident students with a safer and optional learning environment. In the past, Universiti Malaya has developed several MOOCs courses which were available free on openLearning and FutureLearn.

ADeC is responsible in helping UM academics develop their MOOC/Microcredentials course. In July 2020, we organized our first workshop on Microcredentials @UM to introduce the MC@UM concept, the MC @UM team, as well as provide the lecturers templates which have been prepared to make their MC@UM journey as easy as possible.

ADeC also reached out to faculties to explain about MC@UM, through online, as well as physical meeting.

Emerald Teaching and Learning was held as usual but this time, via multiple platforms online. The usually 5-day course took up a whole 2 weeks online as more assignments and task were given by the trainers.

We would like to thanks all trainers and participants who successfully completed the course despite the challenges of laggings, no-face interactions and the amount of assignments which undoubtedly overwhelming. Congratulations!
